

“Just say yes...”

It's easy to be politically popular – just say “yes” to nearly everybody all the time and spend lots of public money. It also helps to always give union negotiators everything they ask for, never disagree with an assembly member – and never, ever be “confrontational.”

However, a good mayor represents the public-at-large and must be willing to stand up to some assembly members and union negotiators who have some pretty strong opinions on their side too. When you come right down to it, Tom Fink is just about exactly what we need in these times. Keep up the good work, Mayor!

Re-elect Mayor Tom Fink, a good man doing a good job.
